LASSEN COUNTY PROBATION: A YEAR IN REVIEW

The 2020-2021 year flew by for the Lassen County Probation Department, giving us so much to reflect on. From our two divisions moving into one office, getting some of our in-person trainings back, to creating new in-house programs, and building a stronger social media presence within our community; 20-21 was a full year.

Navigating our way through a merge of two full divisions into one office was as challenging as it was rewarding. We had to work in closer quarters to one another, while still finding our own space to keep our work flowing. The benefits, however, have definitely tipped the scales. While it was an adjustment, the ability to have impromptu meetings for the entire department has been a positive. More face to face communication between the Adult and Juvenile Divisions has helped create an open environment allowing cross-training and support for one another. Gaps for coverage have become almost non-existent. While losing the Juvenile Detention Facility was hard, the positive outcome of our Juvenile Division coming to the Adult office has made our Department that much stronger.

Through all of that, our department was able to bring back some in-person trainings. Both Juvenile and Adult staff attended first aid trainings, ART (Aggression Replacement Training), and numerous other trainings put on in-house. Officers and Probation Assistants have been able to get back into the field to do address verifications, home checks, and even participate in an abatement operation in Ravendale.

Lassen County Probation was also able to create and implement a new in-house program for clients. The Vital Intervention and Behavior Education (VIBE) Program was offered to both Juveniles and Adults. The VIBE Program is a skill building group that teaches safe coping skills to men and women. The beginning of this program shows promise to be a long lasting asset to the Lassen County Probation Department and it's clients.

With new programs on the rise and our staff getting back into the full swing of things, our department has stepped into the light by way of Social Media. The Lassen County Probation Department Facebook page is a place where we can connect to those in the community who want to learn more about the criminal justice system or our department. There has been positive feedback from the public, telling us that they love to see us out in the community and seeing how much our department does.

As some restrictions lifted on the COVID-19 Pandemic, our department had to adjust to suit them as well. We are adapting to the everchanging regulations that are slowly becoming a normal procedure for everyone. Lassen County Probation continues to strive forward to ensure the safety of employees and the public.

During July of each year, Pre-Trial, Probation, and Parole Supervision (PPPS) Week is observed. It is a time that the Lassen County Probation Management team use to show their appreciation for staff. They hand out gifts, cook a breakfast and lunch, as well as put on a “movie afternoon” for staff to gather and enjoy a fun afternoon together. 2020 was celebrated with masks and special coins being given to our staff.

After moving through several locations, Lassen County Probation has landed in the building on Riverside Drive, before that it was located on South Roop for many years. When the move happened, Chief Jennifer Branning made sure to take a keepsake: the sign. She then fitted it into a table top, that we now display in our office. Accompanying it is a collection of badges from probation departments throughout the state of California.

ADULT DIVISION

For a second year, the COVID-19 Pandemic affected the community and our lives, making it seem as if there was no light at the end of the tunnel. However, our department interlocked as a family and persevered through some of the most challenging times. We came together and covered what we needed to cover for each other as family does. We worked from where we could and if we could not be in the office, we did our best to cover for those who were out. We ensured the required reports, projects, and alike were completed in a timely manner as the world did not stop, rather, we had hit a colossal roadblock causing us to maneuver around it, which we did.

As challenges with the COVID-19 pandemic continued, our small rural community was hit on June 30th with the Beckworth fire, a fire that began a devastating fire season. The fires that followed were some of the biggest California has ever seen. Through this, our department helped to support the community and firefighters.

Due to the restrictions that come with the pandemic, for a time our department utilized “drive-through” drug testing. As the name implies, the clients would come to the office and be tested in the parking lot using an oral swab test. They would then wait for the presumptive results. With some restrictions lifted, our Adult division has since gone back to traditional testing methods.

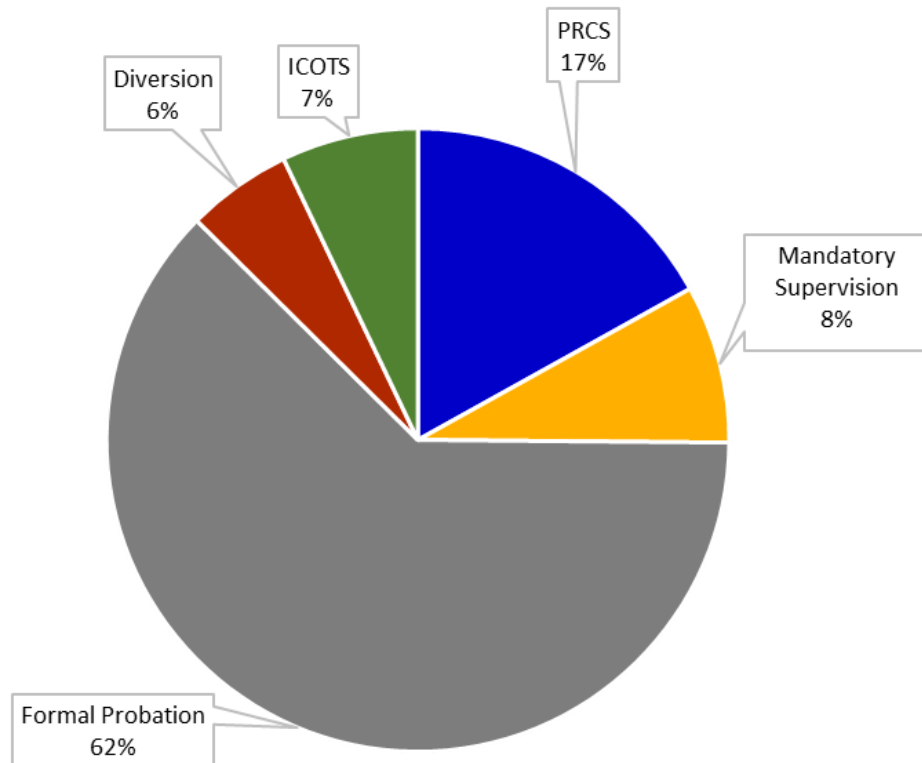

We have again implemented case planning and case conferencing, which has been a tremendous help to the officers who are confronting barriers of productive progress for their clients. This allows officers to complete a plan of resources and classes to ensure success for their clients.

After many discussions, we have started the smooth transition of those who have been granted PC 1000 diversion. There are now monthly meetings being held in order to obtain progress reports to provide to the court at status hearings.

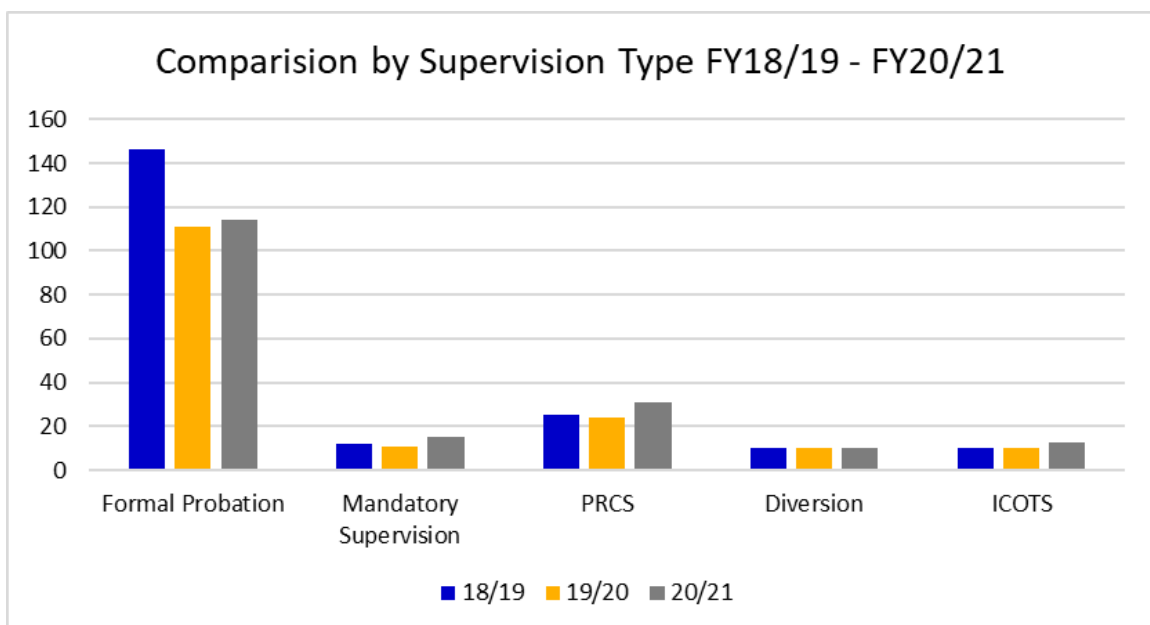

Finally, yet importantly, we have begun posting on our Facebook page about the court and probation processes. We aim to educate the public and those who are not familiar with the Criminal Justice System on a better understating of it and the role we play.

The following chart represents the risk levels over the last three fiscal years.

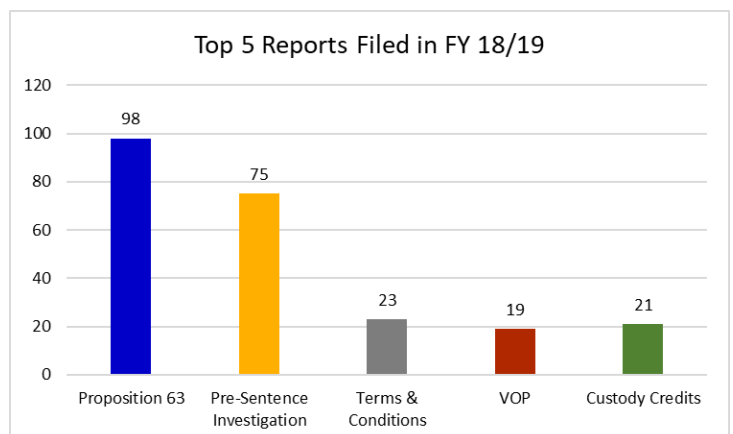

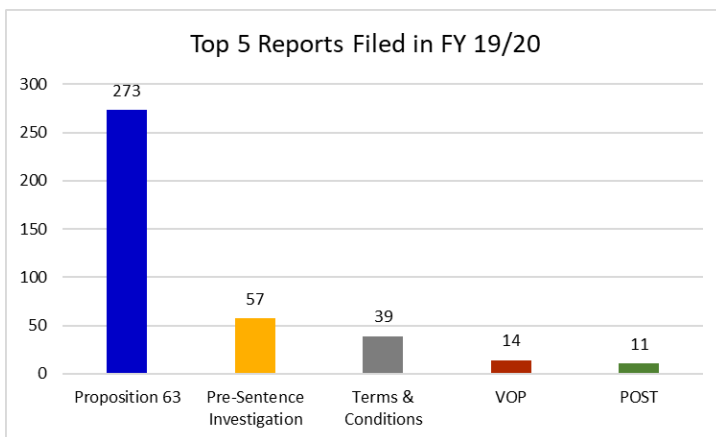

REPORT STATISTICS

A large part of the workload in the Adult Division of the Lassen County Probation Department is report writing. The Adult Division receives referrals from the court for a variety of reports. In FY 20/21, the Adult Division filed 448 court reports. The highest being Proposition 63 Reports at 257 reports filed. The top 5 reports filed by Lassen County Probation in FY 20/21 are represented in the chart below.

JUVENILE DIVISION

Just like every other agency and individual, the Juvenile Division continues to evolve practices and procedures to provide appropriate services during the pandemic. We transitioned to virtual trainings, meetings and court appearances. Pursuant to legislation, we transitioned from in-person visits with youth in out of home care, to virtual, back to in-person visits. We conducted our first virtual job fair; our County Self-Assessment was cancelled and we are diligently working on a hybrid virtual model to conduct a meaningful CSA to assist in the writing of our new 5 Year System Improvement Plan.

We requested information from the juvenile division for ideas around transforming Juvenile Probation. We created and implemented the Vital Intervention and Behavioral Encouragement Program, case conferencing, and with the collaboration of several agencies redesigned and brought back meetings for the Children's Systems Allocation Team. The state implemented and provided training on a new user-friendly data system to manage out of state and transfer in cases.

With the closure of the Department of Juvenile Justice, we had to come together to determine how to appropriately serve our juvenile population. We focused on preventative measures to assist in reducing confinement and out of home placement. The department partnered with Lassen Intervention to create a specific program to bring individualized services to our youth and families. Lassen Intervention created a proposal for services which will be further reviewed and decided upon in the next fiscal year.

As of February 2021, the Juvenile and Adult divisions have merged into one department site. This has been a journey of merging personalities and work styles. With everyone in the same building we have been able to come together for potlucks and "family time" to get to know one another not only as co-workers but friends. As a team we had the privilege of celebrating graduations from college/universities and a retirement celebration. Additionally, we had the opportunity to provide a letter of recognition to Officer Miller for his exemplary work with the youth he serves.

COMMUNITY EVENTS

Though community events held some restrictions due to the ongoing pandemic, Lassen County Probation found a way to be involved throughout the year. While some events were cancelled completely, others were merely modified to ensure the safety of the volunteers and the public. Members of the probation team volunteer their time to these events. The outreach that we conduct when out with the community is a huge resource to our department.

Our team consisted of Chief Jennifer Branning, SDPO Jennifer Sommerfield, & Probation Clerk Becky Kuhns.

SPONSORSHIPS

The Lassen County Probation Department enjoys sponsoring local programs. Below are a few programs that were sponsored throughout the fiscal year, and some information on each of them.

Courage Worldwide Triathlon

Courage Worldwide is an international, non-profit organization that builds homes for children rescued out of sex trafficking around the world. Courage Worldwide started out as an all volunteer organization, and has grown to a multi-million dollar non-profit organization with thirty paid employees, over fifteen hundred active volunteers and two long term residential care facilities – one in Northern California and the other in Tanzania, Africa.

Out of Darkness

The Community Walks, held in hundreds of cities across the country, are the core of the Out of the Darkness movement, which began in 2004. These events give people the courage to open up about their own connections to the cause, and a platform to create a culture that's smarter about mental health. Friends, family members, neighbors and coworkers walk side-by-side, supporting each other and in memory of those we've lost.

Dancing for a Brand New Me

Dancing For A Brand New Me is Lassen Family Services' largest fundraiser. The money raised by this event helps LFS pay the mortgage on our emergency shelter for victims of Domestic Violence and Sexual Assault. This is the first year Lassen County probation sponsored a team. ILP also sponsored a team for the event held in October 2021.
